

A close-up, microscopic view of snowflakes, showing their intricate, hexagonal crystalline structures. The snowflakes are white and translucent, with some showing clear six-fold symmetry. The background is a soft, out-of-focus greyish-white.

EURANDOM wishes you Merry Christmas and a scientifically inspiring and fruitful New Year!